

Can not find custmenu.app

If a customer has just run an update on their software and receives an error when going into sysut that says "Can not find custmenu.app" the following steps must be performed on their system.

1. Log into the system as root
2. Type `cd /work/systcfigs`
3. Type `compall`
4. Allow the system to compile the programs and come back to the # sign.

Tell the customer to try getting into sysut again, and then send them to software. If you dialed into the system, remember to exit out of the modem before sending the customer to software.
